GLOBAQUA Final Conference: Water river management under water scarcity and multiple stressors

18-19 December 2018, Barcelona (Spain)

GLOBAQUA General Assembly
17th December 2018
Barcelona, Spain

The research leading to GLOBAQUA has received funding from the European Union's Seventh Programme under grant agreement No 603629

ABOUT GLOBAQUA PROJECT

GLOBAQUA aims at identifying the prevalence, interaction and linkages between stressors, and to assess their effects on the status of freshwater ecosystems in order to improve water management practice and policies. The project assembles a multidisciplinary team of 23 scientific institutions, as well as water authorities and river basin managers, and includes experts in geomorphology, biology, chemistry, hydrology, modelling, socio-economics and policy advocacy.

RATIONALE OF THE CONFERENCE

The interdisciplinary conference is a platform for exchange and discussion of innovative scientific findings and methods in aquatic ecosystems research. It focuses on the main results of the project after five years, results generated under four topics: STRESSORS (understanding the mechanisms behind the multiple stressors acting in each case study), RECEPTORS (analysing the effects of the stressors on biodiversity and ecosystem functioning), IMPLICATIONS (studying the implications for ecosystem services and socio-economy) and MANAGEMENT & POLICY (dealing with relevant issues associated to the impact of multiple stressors on water quality, quantity, and ecosystems, as well as on the potential implementation of the major findings on European policy).

In this context, the conference is structured in five sessions:

- S1: STRESSORS, scenarios and hydrology
- S2: STRESSORS, geomorphology and chemistry
- S3: RECEPTORS, biology and ecosystems
- S4: IMPLICATIONS, ecosystem services and socio-economics
- S5: MANAGEMENT, impact and European policy.

Contributions are most welcome from the interested scientific community.

GLOBAQUA Meeting

The 5th General Assembly and 10th Steering Committee meeting will take place on Monday 17th December at the same place, from 09:15 to 18:30 (lunch & coffee break included). More details: marianne.kock@idaea.csic.es.

SCHEDULE

Tuesday, 18th December 2018

09.00 – 09.30: Registration
 09.30 – 10.00: Welcome
 10.00 – 11.00: Session 1 - Stressors
 11.00 – 11.45: Coffee break + flash presentations
 11.45 – 12.45: Session 1 - Stressors
 12.45 – 13.45: Lunch + Poster Session
 13.45 – 15.45: Session 2 - Stressors
 15.45 – 16.30: Coffee break + flash presentations
 16.30 – 18.30: Session 3 - Receptors
 20.30: Conference Dinner

Wednesday, 19th December 2018

09.15 – 11.15: Session 4 - Implications
 11.15 – 12.00: Coffee break + flash presentations
 12.00 – 14.00: Session 5 - Management and Policy
 14.00 – 15.00: Lunch + Poster Session
 15.00 – 15.45: Round table: Integrating GLOBAQUA / MARS / SOLUTIONS outcomes into EC water policy; water and citizens; need for living labs.
 15.45 – 16.00: Closing Discussion and awards.

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

The meeting will include key-note lectures, invited and regular oral presentations and posters (some of them with flash presentations). Submission of abstracts is open to all scientists who share interest in the topics of the conference. Abstracts (in English) for oral and poster presentations (max 2 pages) must be submitted by 8th November 2018. Instructions and abstract templates can be found at <https://goo.gl/ypLXRn>. Posters should be strictly prepared in A0 format. The acceptance of the contributions (oral/poster) will be notified by 13th November 2018.

IMPORTANT DATES

- Deadline for abstract submission: 8th November 2018;
- Acceptance notification to authors: 13th November 2018;
- Deadline registration: 20th November 2018.

KEY NOTE SPEAKERS

Yolanda Picó, CSIC-UV-GV, Spain.

"Occurrence of emerging contaminants and microplastics in several hot spots of Saudi Arabia"

Werner Brack, UFZ GmbH, Germany.

"SOLUTIONS Project results"

Daniel Hering, University of Duisburg, Germany.

"Multiple stressor-biological response relationships in freshwaters: a unified analysis across scales and ecosystems, resulting from the MARS project"

Antoni Munné, ACA, Spain.

"Main issues to reach good ecological and chemical status in Catalan basins. Next challenges"

Ralf Ludwig, LMU, Germany.

"Assessing global change impacts on stressors for aquatic ecosystems at the basin scale"

Isabel Muñoz, UB, Spain.

"Biodiversity and ecosystem changes to multiple pressures: from basin to experimental approach"

Phoebe Koundouri, ATHENA Research, Greece.

"Agenda 2030 for Sustainable Development: Measuring & Integrating. Economic Value in Interdisciplinary Water Resources Management"

Nick Voulvoulis, Imperial College, UK.

"Managing water ecosystems to maintain and improve their functions and the benefits they deliver to us: The WFD Paradigm"

Jochen Froebrich, ALTEERRA, The Netherlands.

"The future of water in Europe – challenges and opportunities for water smart societies"
